

WRP PROGRAM AT DOD

Sign up for the WRP program each August. Open Doors to federal internship opportunities!

CURRENT & RECENT GRADS

The Workforce Recruitment Program (WRP) is a government-wide program co-sponsored by the U.S. Department of Labor and the U.S. Department of Defense. The goal of the program is to increase the representation of highly motivated college students and recent graduates with disabilities through summer internships or permanent jobs.

SIGN UP TODAY!

Current students and recent graduates with Schedule A Hiring Authority eligibility must apply through WRP-participating schools. Visit wrp.gov or contact your school's disability services or career services coordinator to determine if your school is a current participant. For additional questions, please contact wrp@dol.gov

ELIGIBILITY

To participate in the WRP, students and recent graduates must:

- Apply through your school's career center or disability services office.
- Be a US Citizen
- Have a Schedule A qualified disability
- Be a current secondary university, undergraduate, graduate/doctoral student or
- Recent graduate from a U.S. accredited college or university.

OPPORTUNITIES!

- Gain valuable work experience in your field of study
- Make connections with potential employers
- Learn about federal government and private-sector employment opportunities for individuals with disabilities
- Get support from a network of professionals with disabilities
- Increase your chances of getting hired after graduation